Michael Zellers is a trial lawyer who has tried to verdict numerous cases in the areas of antitrust, business, clinical trials, contract, fraud, insurance, medical device, partnership, pharmaceutical, professional liability, product liability, trade secret, and unfair competition.

He has extensive experience defending individual and mass tort pharmaceutical and medical device litigation while serving as national, state, and trial counsel.

In Who's Who Legal, where he is recognized in the areas of Product Liability Defence and Life Sciences: Product Liability, sources say that Michael is "fantastic to work with," highlighting his "very active practice" in the field of medical device disputes.

Michael is former President of the Cleveland Association of Civil Trial Attorneys. He has lectured to national groups on trial practice, health care and employment issues, has worked for state and national medical associations on legal issues involving health care providers, and has served as in-house counsel to a major teaching hospital.
