Brandon Wojtasik focuses on matters involving corporate transactions, mergers and acquisitions, private equity, and corporate governance.

Brandon counsels a spectrum of clients ranging from local, privately held businesses to private equity firms and public companies. His foremost objective is to understand clients' businesses and their individual goals, assisting them through each phase of the transaction process – from initial deal terms to due diligence through closing. In the boardroom, he advises businesses and executives on corporate growth opportunities, reorganizations, and checks and balances to ensure that each business adheres to the best corporate practices for its needs.

With a background in mathematics and economics, Brandon approaches matters with keen, analytical attention. Putting clients at the center of his practice, he strives to provide the highest level of service to help them meet their goals.

As lifelong Clevelanders, Brandon and his wife Stephanie enjoy spending free time supporting Cleveland's sports, music, and culinary scene.
