Christopher Teodosio works closely with clients to create estate plans that meet their business and planning objectives.

Chris focuses his practice on estate planning, trust and estate administration, and probate litigation. He understands that his work often involves the most important aspects of our clients' lives, whether that is providing for loved ones, giving to charitable causes, or ensuring a family business continues within the family. Chris works closely with clients to learn their unique concerns, objectives, and family dynamics in order to construct a comprehensive plan that provides them with peace of mind that their wishes will be carried out in an efficient and effective manner. Chris is experienced in preparing a wide range of estate plans, including sophisticated plans involving estate and gift tax issues and succession planning.

Chris also advises fiduciaries in administering estates and trusts, including complex administrations that involve closely held businesses, tax issues, and family conflict. Chris has represented clients in probate litigation involving trust interpretation issues, concealment actions, and breach of fiduciary duty claims.

In his free time, Chris enjoys spending time with family and giving back to the community. He currently serves on the boards of several local non-profit organizations, including Community Legal Aid and Akron Roundtable. He also founded and is the President of the Andrea Rose Teodosio Memorial Foundation, which was created in memory of his late sister and has given to numerous worthy causes. He resides in Munroe Falls, Ohio, with his wife Katherine and three children Charlotte, Ava, and Lily. He is an avid fan of Clemson and Cleveland sports teams.
