Elisa Arko focuses her practice on complex litigation and appellate matters, including hospitality and product liability defense.

Elisa develops legal strategies to meet our clients' goals at every phase of the litigation, including consultation, dispositive motion practice, trial, and appeals. She uses this expertise to help trial teams with dispositive motions, jury instructions, and post-verdict motions with an eye toward ensuring key issues are preserved for appeal.

Elisa defends clients and has served as appellate counsel in multiple trials in state and federal court. She has argued many appeals and helped brief many more in state and federal appellate courts throughout the country. Elisa has leveraged these skills to co-author numerous amicus curiae briefs on behalf of statewide and national organizations.
