Prashanthi Manoharan supports attorneys and clients firmwide as a member of the Tucker Ellis Junior Attorney Corps.

Prashanthi assists clients across a range of practice areas, with a particular focus on business litigation and mass tort and product liability matters. As a member of the Tucker Ellis Junior Attorney Corps, Prashanthi assists with in-depth research, discovery, and motion practice.

During law school, Prashanthi did separate internships for a large health-care system and a pharmaceutical company, where she gained valuable insight into in-house legal practices and assisted with contract review, regulatory matters, and internal investigations. Additionally, she interned with an employment law boutique. Prashanthi leverages this background in her current role, drawing on her understanding of client interaction, in-house legal operations, employment law, negotiation, and case management to enhance her legal practice.

In her free time, Prashanthi enjoys Bharatanatyam dancing, watching Netflix documentaries, playing volleyball, and discovering new culinary spots in Los Angeles.
