Sandy Wunderlich has a diverse litigation background, with a particular emphasis on intellectual property litigation and consulting.

An experienced trial lawyer, Sandy has been lead trial counsel in more than a dozen jury and bench trials. Over the past 25 years, she has litigated patent, trademark, copyright, and domain name matters from the cease-and-desist stage through appeal.

Outside of litigation, Sandy provides intellectual property consulting on the likelihood of litigation and strategizes with clients on ways to avoid it. She also assists clients with online brand control and enforcement through cost-effective approaches to stopping unauthorized sales of products. A member of the Federal Circuit, she has successfully handled appeals in that court.

In addition to her IP expertise, Sandy has represented large pharmaceutical manufacturers, agricultural and industrial manufacturers, a Fortune 50 company, and large national banks and credit arms of Fortune 100 companies in areas including commercial litigation, class actions, medical device and pharmaceutical liability, and financial services litigation, among others.

While Sandy is particularly well-known in Missouri and Illinois state and federal courts, she litigates disputes nationwide, in states including Kansas, Delaware, Minnesota, Tennessee, California, Texas, Ohio, Florida, New York, and New Jersey. Sandy also handles appeals in the highest appellate courts at both the state and federal levels. As a former law clerk to the Honorable Elwood L. Thomas of the Missouri Supreme Court, she gained valuable insight into the appellate process.

“Recommended” in World Trademark Review’s WTR 1000, Sandy “knows what it takes to get difficult jobs done. Distinguished by her IP trial and appellate experience, she is a powerful weapon in the armoury of Tucker Ellis, a firm well reputed for its robust enforcement capabilities.”
