Tayler Gill uses her research and writing skills to support the Tucker Ellis Mass Tort & Product Liability Group.

Tayler provides attentive guidance to clients throughout litigation – from the filing of the complaint to the resolution of the case. Leveraging her trial experience, she defends companies in mass tort, product liability, medical malpractice, personal injury, and business litigation matters – gaining invaluable experience and adding value to each matter.

A natural leader and problem solver, Tayler approaches each matter with tenacity and perseverance to obtain favorable results for clients. Her experience includes conducting factual investigations; performing strategic legal research; preparing legal memoranda, pleadings, discovery responses, and motions; and trial preparation.

During law school, Tayler received the Dean's Learn Law. Live Justice Award, which recognizes one outstanding graduating student who is not only academically successful, but also has learned what it means to live justice – to be committed to making clients' lives better and communities stronger. Tayler also co-taught Cleveland-Marshall's Jump Start program, alongside Assistant Dean Nick DeSantis, to assist first-year students with their adjustment to the law school experience. She also assisted Assistant Dean Barbara Andelman with recruiting and mentoring minority students.

In her spare time, Tayler loves to read, exercise, and spend time with friends and family.
