Vasko Alexander is an experienced litigator, focusing his practice on transportation, logistics, and manufacturing.

Vasko's aggressive litigation approach, coupled with his sense of urgency in attending to his clients' needs and a pleasant demeanor, has earned him respect and referrals from peers and clients alike. Vasko litigates disputes for clients in the supply and logistics sector, including freight forwarders, inter-modal shippers, freight system manufacturers, trucking, and warehousemen. Vasko also draws on his experience in representing contractors, subcontractors, materials suppliers and installers, in complex litigation in Southern California.

Business owners and general counsel rely on Vasko for efficient and effective resolution of their disputes through litigation when informal methods fail to yield desired outcomes.

Outside the office, Vasko enjoys annoying his kids with puns and dad jokes, and makes up for it with camping, fishing, and exploring new places and cultures with his family. He also thinks he's a pretty decent photographer and cook.
