Tucker Ellis LLP

Public Law

Overview

Tucker Ellis has the capabilities and resources necessary to provide extensive, up-to-date and significant information from, and advocacy before, key public sector decision-makers in Columbus, Ohio, and throughout the state. Attorneys within our Public Law group have direct experience working with the current leadership in Columbus and have the ability to represent their clients in legislative, contract, regulatory and administrative matters. In addition, members of the group maintain a legislative watch and provide information to clients on significant news and developments at the local, state, and federal levels.