

St. Louis, Missouri | September 23, 2021

EVAN SOTIRIOU JOINS TUCKER ELLIS IP DEPARTMENT AS COUNSEL IN ST. LOUIS

Tucker Ellis LLP is pleased to announce that Evan Sotiriou has joined the firm's Intellectual Property Department as Counsel in its St. Louis office.

Mr. Sotiriou represents corporate clients in domestic and international intellectual property matters. A registered U.S. patent attorney, he has more than two decades of experience focusing primarily on patent preparation and prosecution. He assists companies of all sizes in developing and managing their patent portfolios, focusing his expertise in the technological fields of electrical, software, electromechanical, and mechanical inventions. Mr. Sotiriou is particularly experienced with technologies including computer networking and controls, computer hardware and software, artificial intelligence, machine learning, neural networks, image processing, virtual reality, semiconductor devices, online processing, wireless communication, digital imaging and processing, vehicle and aircraft control and safety, navigation systems, entertainment systems, printers, projectors, medical devices, medical diagnostic imaging, testing equipment, RFID, digital interfaces, document and data management, electrical connectors, antennas, and portable electronic devices.

“We’re thrilled to welcome Evan to our IP Department,” said Carlos Garritano, Tucker Ellis Intellectual Property Department Chair. “His technological expertise, coupled with two decades of patent experience, strengthens our growing St. Louis office and our thriving national intellectual property practice.”

As part of his IP practice, Mr. Sotiriou obtains and maintains strong patent protection by preparing patent applications for clients, advocating for them before the U.S. Patent Office and on appeals before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board, and with post-issuance enforcement of their patent rights. He has rendered opinions on many different patent issues and has represented clients in licensing matters and mergers and acquisitions. Also experienced with trademark matters, he prepares and prosecutes trademark applications and represents clients before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board.

Mr. Sotiriou received his law degree from Washington University School of Law. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from Washington University in St. Louis.

About Tucker Ellis LLP

Tucker Ellis LLP is a full-service law firm of more than 220 attorneys with offices in Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and St. Louis. The firm is proud to service a Fortune 250 list of national litigation clients and intellectual property clients, as well as sophisticated business clients, for whom we individually tailor our client service teams. For more information, please visit tuckerellis.com.

###